

VIS INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL SPECIAL NEEDS POLICY

One of VIS's main objectives is to ensure school is a positive and enriching experience for all students, even for those requiring special attention due to different kinds of disabilities.

The School strictly respects University of Cambridge International Examinations and the IBO guidelines and indications regarding special need students.

Students with disabilities are encouraged to enroll in our programs as long as their disability is compatible with the requirements of the course itself. The Coordinator will be addressing any disability issues with the family of the prospective student prior to enrolment to verify that there are the conditions for the learning experience to be beneficial for the student.

The Coordinator informs subject teachers of any disabilities affecting their students and meetings are arranged with the families and any specialists following the student to better understand the situation. No allowances can be made to special needs students other than those provided for by the University of Cambridge International Examinations and the IBO.
